LOTS OF CITIZENS MADE HERE.

Before County Clerk Clinton yesterday afternoon Alfred Strobeck, a native of Norway, declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States. Few Astorians have any idea of the number of foreigners who become naturalized every year in this county. The records in the office of the county clerk show that up to the close of business last night the total number of declarations of intention to become citizens was 153. A city election is approaching and this will have the effect of adding materially to the number. There have been no elections this year and the number is below the average. It is probable that the average number of new citizens made in this county per year is fully 200.

TIDE SWAMPED THEIR BOAT

Presence of Mind of Lads Saved Them From Drowning-Other Waterfront Happenings.

The presence of mind of Willard and Jimmie Goldbeck, boys living near the Astoria iron works, and prompt action on the part of can factory employes prevented a double drowning yesteron the river in a small skiff and on their return put in at Leathers' yards. The ebbing tide was running like a mill race and the boys lost control of their boat, which was carried swiftly towards the eastern end of the can factory dock. The skiff went broadside into the piling and it seemed to the anxious onlookers that it would surely capsize. The boys, following instructions shouted by men on neighboring docks, seated themselves on the edge of the boat, thus keeping it almost on an even keel. Lines were provided and the boys hauled to the wharf. Their escape was a narrow one and a sigh of relief went up from the crowd when the boys were finally rescued. The boat swamped and was not recovered.

IN TROUBLE MANY TIMES

III-Fated South Portland Had Bad Record on the Atlantic Coast.

GOVERNMENT DETAINED HER

Vessel Was in Filibustering Business-Wrecked Soon After Being Placed in Commission.

Long before the steamer South Portland began bumping into hidden rocks nlong the Pacific coast she was in trouble in the cast where she was built. From the time she was launched until she went down off Cape Blanco Monday afternoon she was in constant trouble, the hoodoo having remained with her until the very last.

An Associated Press dispatch received yesterday from New York by The Astorian contains an interesting story of her troubles on the Atlantic coast. According to this dispatch the steamer was formerly known as the Caroline Miller, and her alleged filibustering propensities got her into trouble with the government. The dispatch follows:

"Known on this coast as the Caroline Miller, the steamer South Portland, just wrecked on the Pacific coast was seized 11 years ago by the federal authorities in this port on suspicion of being a filibuster. She was boarded on the strength of a statementthat the cargo she carried was contraband, consisting of munitions of war Bennett-Lemon Nuptials Cele- for insurgents in Venezuela headed by General Joaquin Crespo. The minister from Venezuela insisted that Francisco Gonzales, as agent for Crespo shipped the war materials, but the government had to recede from its position, and in April 1894, a verdict of $600 was awarded against the United States for illegally detaining the ship. "Captain John O'Brien, known as Dynamite, who achieved considerable fame as a blockade runner in Cuban waters, commanded the Miller." The South Portland commenced her career as the British steamship Dawn.

She sailed to America and entered the fruit trade between New York and Baracoa. On her first voyage, however, she was wrecked on Hoksty reef on thenorth coast of Cuba. She was afterwards raised, repaired and purchased by a syndicate which secured for her American register and changed her name to Caroline Miller. The Caroline Miller traded along the Atlantic coast for some time and was finally purchased by the Progreso Steamship Company renamed South Portland and brought out to this coast, where she remained ver since. A few weeks ago she again changed owners. She had bumped on he high places of the ocean on various occasions. Once the took fire while tied at the Astoria theater all next week is at the sea wall and to save her, she had to be filled with water and foundered. Captain McIntyre has had an extensive matrimonial career. His first wife was a California girl, and when the cantain fell in love with the present Mrs. McIntyre, the first wife instituted suit for damage for alleged alienation of her husband's affections. The seca strong feature in the past are up-to- and wife is very wealthy and the jury that heard the case awarded the plaintiff $10,000. Mrs. McIntyre lives at Oakland and she is said by friends to nave repeatedly urged her husband to quit the sea. His fondness for the life, however, was too pronounced to be resisted. Whether or not his recent experlence will have the effect of bringing him around to his wife's way of thinking is problematical. Captain McIntyre's father was lost at sea in a disaster similar to the South Portland wreck. As captain of the collier Bristol he ran on a reef in Queen Charles sound off the coast of Georgia The ship went down and the captain and some of the crew were lost with her. Captain McIntyre left considerable property at Port Townsend Wash.
